Welcome to the current edition of the Brile Fire-eyes' Ultimate Mages Catalogue.

Herein you will find everything a Wizard, Enchantress, Priest or Bard could need, at a range of prices to meet all purses. We are able to customise or alter designs when necessary, please contact a member of our sales team.

Each item has a small set of images showing whether the armour is available for Humans, Dwarves, Elves or Halflings. Each item also has the thoughts of one of our sales team, who are detailed at the back of this catalogue.

Each item has a space for the price to be entered in the pdf version, using a pdf reader that allows the filling in of form fields. This field can be found just above the race images.

Pencil can be used to add an appropriate price to the same space in the printed edition so that the prices are appropriate for each specific setting.

This Edition October 2016

AMULETS

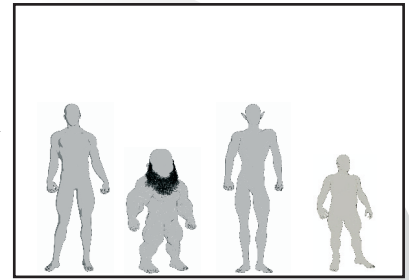

Amulets are one of the classic ways to store magical energy and spells for later use. Protection, flight and enhancement spells are all popular options to add to these fantastic items of jewellery.

Popular with all kinds of spell users, we can usually customise the chain part of the amulet for the wearer.

Bone Necklace

This necklace has an assortment of mystical and significant bones on a wire-reinforced leather thong. The exact arrangement and identity of bones will vary, every necklace is unique, but we are assured that each individual necklace remains great occult potentiality.

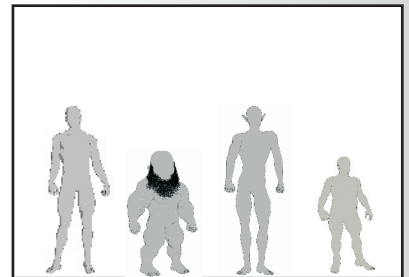

Well what can I say, you will be purchasing a solely unique item, what's better than being one of a kind. If you like to dress down this is the one for you. marvellously mystical.

STJ

Charm Necklace

Crafted from leather and copper, this necklace has been specially designed to display a wide range of charms (not included) of just about any type.

Copper loops and wire are included for a hassle-free arrangement of charms and icons.

We can of course source charms for you at a price. Please contact a member of our sales team for assistance.

Need somewhere to carry all your charms? Well, this is your lucky day; why not get this charming necklace, ready made to hold a number of charms and if you don't have any charms then your luck is doubly in as we can provide any number. I am sure though that having seen this deal, you probably won't be needing a lucky charm!
